And from Liz – Joby is planning on updating the current story to say that water levels are back to pre-spill conditions. He's hoping to get around to a story about the bigger problem of toxic mine waste tomorrow.. He'd like to talk to the Admin if possible.

Tom – Instead of Denver Post, we should do Durango Herald. They've been less critical and since it's the community where the long term affects are going to be felt, they'll be more open to talking big picture.

Peter Marcus is who I'd suggest. Let me know if it's OK to move forward and if we still want to shoot for this afternoon.
